Dear Dr. McAllister:

11/6/88

Thanks to the Council for Tobacco Research's generosity, the graduate students in the department of Molecular, Cellular and Developmental Biology will be holding the symposium "Pathogens Strategies: Evasion and Suppression of the Immune System" on March 3-5, 1989.

We wish to extend an open invitation to the scientists at the Council for Tobacco Research to attend the meeting. No registration fee will be required and we may be able to provide housing for a limited number of participants. The final program is enclosed. Our scouts predict that everyone listed has an interesting story to tell. We were unable to cajole Dr. Fauci to attend because he will be before Congress at the time of the symposium.

We will be sending you our poster advertising the symposium and acknowledging the Council for Tobacco Research's donation once it is completed later in the fall.

Again, thank you,

Douglas Sweetser
